YOU MIGHT BE SURPRISED TO HEAR THAT GRIT IS NOT JUST ABOUT THE INDIVIDUAL

DOES YOUR CHILD'S COMMUNITY HAVE GRIT??

Research has shown us that the grit of a classroom as a whole is more predictive of future literacy achievement than the grit of the individual.

Big take away - We need a gritty team around us to help us succeed!!

Take a few minutes to think about the people your child is surrounded with. Do they have opportunities to be part of a team, class or group that is motivated to help each other persevere and work towards goals? Is there a way to help build this sense of grit in their communities?

As parents, it's easy to get focused on our own children's wellbeing. Do not forget how much the wellbeing of their peers influences their success too.

Share this post to start building grit as a team!

umbrellaproject.co